4.0 Conclusion

Investigations have been conducted into all the 30 cases as reported to the Chairperson, UHRC by NUP Secretary General, Mr. Lewis Rubongoya. Our findings make his complaint questionable.

It is important to note that NUP has previously reported complaints to the Commission of alleged torture of its supporters. However, the said supporters have either not been cooperative by providing more evidence to corroborate their allegations (as was the case of Alexandreas Marinos allegedly raped by UPDF soldiers, who disappeared and the Commission has lost contact with her) or have changed the narrative of their allegations to one that is very different from the one they reported to the Commission (as was the case of Eric Mwesigwa). Other “torture” victims turned out to be victims of road accidents. This trend of incidents has led the Commission to question the credibility of the complainants referred to it.

Further Mr. Rubongoya did not avail us National Identity card numbers for a majority of the alleged missing people despite reminder. This made it difficult for us to establish whether those “victims” ever existed at all.

5.0 Recommendations

We call upon the Human Rights Committee of Parliament to make their report on the alleged missing NUP supporters’ public.
